The designated field is sufficiently away from housing to cause noise or parking issues. The quietness of the field position is a positive to my selection for my dog’s training and exercise. Other users I have met when leaving or arriving are polite and attentive to their dogs needs. My knowledge of other users is limited as often as I arrive or leave the timing gap built into the booking process is sufficient to make parking or leaving easy. The field entrance is secured and separate to the actual field. I would struggle to find a way to improve on the present.
