We have no objection to the extension in principal however our objection relates to the new high level slit window in the upper part of the extension which if allowed, will enable our neighbour to look directly into our garden to which we do object as an invasion of our privacy. We note the extension has two large rooflights which will provide plenty of light into the extension without the need for this high level slit window and we would like this to be removed or lowered so that our privacy and enjoyment of our own property is maintained, we don't want our neighbours looking into our garden especially when in summer and is very perturbed and upset by this possibility. The reason we purchased this property is for the privacy it affords and this new slit window at the level it is proposed will destroy this, why cant the window be removed or lowered such that our privacy is maintain?
