As we live near castle hill I have concerns regarding this application, mainly late night noise and parking on the roadside by our house as we live next to one of the footpaths leading up to castle hill. This was the case before when there was a bar on the hill and since there has been no bar there, we have got used to the quietness especially more so since the barriers have been in use. The noise carries down the hill to the point of hearing conversations clearly especially at night, also people walking up and down the footpath late at night being rather loud after obviously been drinking would be disruptive. There should not be anything of this nature on this historic site other than perhaps something explaining its long history and that of the surrounding area. We should take pride in it, respect it and look after it. It would be best left just for walkers/hikers to continue to enjoy and marvel at the views.
