We are losing far too much farm land and green belt land in Kirklees, of which there is little left, already too many houses have been built in the district on green land , developments in Batley, Mirfield, Gomersal and Birkenshaw are examples of this in recent years, wild life and bird life dispersed and also the affect it has on residents mental health when green spaces are lost, what will there be left for future generations? The council must adopt a policy of Brown field sites only, building smaller scale developments instead of huge housing estates and addressing the need for locals first over people out of the district
