This is a built up area with many houses with already poor infrastructure. The environmental impact of the mining and transport will cause serious issues to the local population. There are already many other houses being built in Denby Dale and the need to remove the coal and stabilise the environment so that a few more can be built is unnecessary and disruptive to the current residents. I see the application has been rejected twice already and why this should then be brought up again seems a waste of time and money. Let us have a little bit of natural space left to let the biodiversity thrive. Thank you
