| The application, in the initial extraction phase will have considerable detrimental impact on highways. The applicant does not know how much material will be extracted and exported from the site in HGV's and therefore does not know how many vehicle movements the development will generate. The applicant states that the extracted coal will not be sold commercially. How can this be controlled through the planning process? Once the coal is outside the boundaries of Kirklees the Council will have no jurisdiction over how it is used. If the coal is to be used for combustion the environmental impacts will be unacceptable. | |
