Sticks and Stones provides an essential service to working parents in Meltham where there is a shortage of childcare providers. The business is undetaken within normal day time working hours, and in an area close to a school, so the impact of their business on local residents is minimal. They provide a supportive, nurturing and affordable service and if the business is not allowed to continue at it's current location this would have a significant impact on the children, their parents and those that run it.
