I object to this development because although the church is no longer in use many of the graves are still tended on a regular basis. My family has many relatives buried here, my Grandparents are right by the vestry door where the ground will be disturbed by the development and if it goes ahead where people will play and walk. Other relatives are higher up by the boundary wall and the path. We tend the graves on birthday anniversaries and at Christmas time, how are we to do this if the building is occupied or in the summer if people are sat outside. The ground area is consecrated and should not be disturbed, the dead deserve to be left to rest in peace.
