I have lived on Trinity street which is the road that sits where the building is. I've lived here for over 45 years and the traffic at the top end of the street on to Huddersfield road has become busier over the last 10 years, with cars unable to even get down trinity street. The fire station needs access at all times and the implementation of another fast food business in the middle of Mirfield will do nothing to attract people to the town. It will block people trying to get down to trinity street or force people down trinity street where I live and there nowhere to turn. It's a real worry that rubbish will build up, littering will take place and limit access's to trinity street, blocking Huddersfield road and potentially risk life saving services by blocking the fire station. Mirfield doesn't need another fast food establishment it needs to attract independent business that will add to the aesthetics of the town.
