As a resident i object to changing these plans, when we purchased on the estate steps was the agreed plan and changing this to more maintained land would raise the costs of residents maintance fees . This should be developed as steps that was orginally planned and sold to residents. This seems like more of a cost cutting excercise to save money and I see no reason why orginal plans for the estate that were agreed when residents purchased the houses should not go ahead. This would enable much better access.
