I strongly object to the change being proposed by Harron homes - we brought our properties based off the plans to have sufficient foot paths through the estate. It is not ok to change requirements based on one developer not wanting to complete the ground works for no reason other than costs. Which they signed up to when the original plans were agreed. The delay in them completing this work has also prevented the adoption of the estate and us not having the choice to choose our management company. In addition passing the up keep & maintenance costs onto the whole estate I'd like someone to explain how that would be fair and just.
