When the nearby Wadsworth Gardens development was proposed, great attention was focused on how the appearance of the 'heritage asset'(i.e. the centuries old church and pub) might be affected. These concerns were listening to and taken into consideration.As a result the housing development is discreet and not intrusive. This new development shows a flagrant disregard for these concerns! The new buildings(considerably larger than the pub now is) would be jarringly out of keeping with the church and its surroundings - spoiling the aesthetics of the area!
