I have grown up in savile town Dewsbury and my children attended Thornhill academy so i know the area really well, over the years it has been abandoned and run down there use to be some temporary accommodation as a child i lived there, so to see it As it is now is heart breaking so when i heard to news of houses bein built there, it is perfect as there is a park and you can also go for a walk where you get to experience the country life which would be ideal for the people who live there and bring it back to life I have also been for a walk around the nature park where you get to experience it and meet people and sit on the benches and have the full experience of nature.
