As a long-term resident I've spent decades waiting for this site to be put to good use - I think the proposal here is a wonderful addition to the centre of Holmfirth. As an architect I note the high quality of design on display here. Using Yorkshire stone on the exterior settles the building into the context. Combining this materiality with a modern composition on the facade seems suitable - avoiding the awful mock-victorian pastiche pitfall that so many new buildings in the area fall into. Looks to have a CLT interior too - progressive and sustainable. Would love to have this in our town.
