I support this proposed development. The site in question is currently a large, unused field adjacent to existing homes, so the new houses would integrate well with the current row. The land has remained unmaintained for quite some time, so it's encouraging to see plans to repurpose it for much-needed family housing in the village. The five proposed houses are situated about halfway down the field, maintaining a reasonable distance from the existing properties. My only concern is the site's access. It's important that turning space is included within the development to avoid vehicles having to reverse onto the public footpath, which could pose a safety risk.
