The impact on Highway safety on Hall Ing Lane from the proposed development has not been thoroughly assessed. It is likely that a percentage of road users would try to avoid the junction with New Mill Road by heading south up Gynn Lane through the hamlet of Hall Ing. The road is very narrow at points, has more than 1 blind bend and has no pavement at points. The road is already dangerous for existing residents, pedestrians, cyclists and horse riders due to the speeds that motorists travel at up and down the road. A 20 mph speed limit with accompanying traffic calming measures should already be in place at Hall Ing to provide adequate safety never mind adding 100 cars to the existing problem.
