We have previously objected especially to the original entrance road which would have been exactually opposite our house. Thank goodness this has been changed to an entrance already existing further up Gynn LANE. However this is a verry narrow entrance and with the somewhat strange new idea of an area to allow 50 bins at the start of the entrance, presumably in case of ice, snow, heavy rain when the bin lorry could not enter and each house owner would have to bring their bin there. Don't think that will happen do you? The new entrance/exit at the start of Gynn LANE, has not proved successful and now Gynn LANE is virtually a single track LANE, especially with the many vehicles parked on either side, especially at school pick up times. If consent is given to 50 houses an extra 100 vehicles, at least, will be in an out of an already narrow LANE.
