| I haven't already seen a mention of this, apologies if I'm wrong.Last year extensive changes were made to the layout of Gynn Lane's junction with New Mill Road. Entrance/exits have been narrowed considerably and we now also have two rows of parked cars on a narrower width of road. This often results in single lane alternating traffic near the junction. I can't imagine how chaotic this will be if there are (realistically now) 50-150 more cars and related Amazon and supermarket delivery vans whizzing up and down. Less safe for the school children too. | |
