I want to register a strong objection to the proposed concrete production plant across the road from where I live. this is a residential area and a concrete plant would be too close to houses and gardens. I spend a lot of time sat out in my garden, I am almost house bound with asbestosis. They start making noise before 6 am some days and over the weekend too. They have fires which cause smoke and fumes, I have reported this previously. The noise dirt and dust that is already caused by the current production plant is already way beyond acceptable for a built up housing area. The road isn't suitable for the heavy vehicles that would be up and down the road. There is also lots of wildlife and a stream right alongside the proposed site, what would be the impact on that? I say again that a concrete production plant has no place in a residential area. Thank you.
