Apologies, on my previous submission I forgot to list one further objection: Future planning applications - the property has quite substantial gardens front and back that could be used to further extend the building, which if approved would enable more children to be housed there and in turn increase staffing levels. The potential to do this is significant. When does such a property become a business and subject to business rates? Please add this final point to my previous submission Thank you
