This is not a large institution but a family-styled home for just 3 children with carers. Traffic and parking will be no different from any normal household, and there is enough space at the address to manage it. Three children living together will not create more noise than an ordinary family, and with trained carers and Ofsted rules in place the environment should be calm and well supervised. These children deserve the chance to live in a normal home within a community rather than being placed somewhere isolated. I believe the concerns about web advertising and safeguarding are misplaced. Having a website doesn't mean the home is already operating. No children can move in until all approvals are complete, and staff are fully trained and vetted. I see the impact on the estate as being minimal, but the positive difference for the children will be enormous.
