| The design includes parking spaces, clearly recognising the already strained parking situation on this area of Woodhead Road. There is a long stretch where only one lane of traffic can pass, and already you struggle to see when a car has entered at the other end. I foresee this only worsening and becoming more dangerous with cars trying to pull in and out of these new spaces. By including these parking spaces in their plans, and to maintain the size of the properties, they have been forced to extend the build right up to the edge of the river. This will be devastating for the local wildlife, with a vast patch of young and mature trees and other plantlife to be demolished. The river bank will be totally disrupted, and I'm quite sure the water will be at risk of contamination with these extensive works being carried out over a sustained period. Kingfishers and bats are examples of protected species that nest along this particular stretch of river. | |
