It's important that we keep as many green areas as we can and conserve the natural environment. There has been a number of developments in shepley lately and they are taking over the beauty of the village - a reason many of us love being here and why many people like to visit this area. The traffic is already bad and the sovereign crossroads is known for dangerous driving with multiple accidents a year, adding 100 houses nearby only adds to this problem and takes up valuable green space in the process, I don't see the benefit at all. The most recent developments are also so expensive people like myself can't afford to live there so who is the beneficiary? We need to conserve the beauty of the village and the most valuable thing we can keep is our green spaces, trees and wildlife. This adds far more value to the village than any amount of houses.
