I object to this development on several grounds: the development is on land currently designated as green belt; the land has not been identified as having potential for development in the extant Kirklees local plan, in which significant attention and expense was given to find other more appropriate development sites within Kirklees; the site has poor and potentially hazardous access issues for its size, and the solutions proposed do little to mitigate these issues; a development of this size will significantly increase car movements in the area, and contribute to increase traffic on the already problematical route into Huddersfield, and the current accident blackspots at the nearby Sovereign / Carr lane junctions. Any arguments made by developers regarding access to public transport facilities will be weak – the local rail station on the Penistone line is at a walking distance far too far for the majority of the British public to consider reasonable, and bus journey times to major centres are too long to be of value.
