Thornleigh Road is a popular residential street that already has issues with the number of cars and other vehicles that are parked on street and in drive ways. As a regular visitor to the street I feel that these changes are bound to add to that issue. The road and pavements are often dangerous for pedestrians due to the number of parked cars with most houses on the street having more than one vehicle. The staff that are needed to support this type of home will inevitably mean even more traffic in this family residential area, where parents walking children to school and elderly people can barely walk down the pavement. The construction work required for the development will also add noise, dirt and disruption to the street and cause distress to residents.
