To remove the cross is like trying to remove history. Its probably one of the oldest monuments in kirklees. The council should be proud to have it. The location is very important to the village today as it was 300 plus year ago. The councils comments about access for lorries, does not make any sense to me. Firstly, you should not be considering anything over seven and a half ton. your signage. Also no lorry would use wyke lane to access cross street. There are only three businesses. Two farms that have never had a problem, and new farm. There drivers all use the top off wyke lane. All kinds of vehicles have used wyke lane ,without any problem since there first invention. This should prove to you that it's not the cross that is the problem, but one or two bad drivers.
