Mirfield has already reached and surpassed its saturation point.
There is a severe lack of health and educational services, ie doctors, dentists, hospitals and schools.
This specific area has problems with road access, car parking and additional housing will exacerbate the situation.
Roads into and out of Mirfield are congested to the point of becoming carparks and any roadworks lead to even short journeys taking hours.
Even the new railway station will have insufficient space for cars requiring parking.
Kirklees Council struggle to meet the needs of its existing residents and are constantly cutting back.
In addition to the above we also should consider the environmental impact and lack of green spaces. Far too many of our fields and common land have already been lost to housing without additional infrastructure.
It is time to stop and put an end to new housing developments in green spaces.
