This housing development will ruin the area. The roads were originally built for horse, carts and the occasional car. We already have enough clogs on the roads as it is around Crossley Fields. I find myself unable to even park outside our own house around here. Furthermore. Those fields are used by many dogwalkers and nature lovers. Imagine how they must feel having the sounds of machinery ruining the environment. The council already messed up with the warehouses at the sunny bank junction. Don't fail now. Judging by the other new houses in the area, it's a horrid idea. Furthermore, there's a mine in the field adjacent. Does the council know it? Probably not. What's the safety on these houses considering the mine? With the way this country is going, it's not looking good for safety and I don't want my pleasant day ruined by the sounds of cries as the mine collapses under strain.
