I live at 23 Hepworth lane WF14 0PR, and I wish to formally object to the proposed 75 new dwellings being built.

I don’t believe Hepworth lane, Crossley lane, Jenny lane, Flash lane, dunbottle lane, green side and Wellhouse lane are anywhere near capable to facilitate any extra traffic that will likely suffer the impact from this proposal.

Hepworth lane in particular narrows twice where only one vehicle can pass at a time, albeit one section is one way there are no pavements at either of these points making it extremely dangerous for people to navigate, especially children and the elderly.

The lines of sight for vehicles using these roads are so poor that adding extra traffic and also footfall would be a reckless and an unnecessary risk to the public.

Mirfield’s infrastructure (schools, Health centre, highways etc) isn’t sufficient enough as it stands to cope with anything extra without adequate up scaling. This has not been considered in the current proposals.
