And so it goes on. Bellways have been trying to get on to this land for at least 30 years and failed due to the location and the unsuitability of the surrounding infrastructure. Nothing has changed to the infrastructure in the last 30 years except the traffic has become far greater with more and more people parking on the road side closer and closer to the junctions. Bellways have put forward proposals for traffic measure parking restrictions and speed bumps. These will fail, just as the restriction the council put in place as no one enforces them. Just as an example of the problems and dangers of this proposal. Bellways contractors attempted to access the proposed site from Jenny lane on a Monday morning with three wagons. It took them approximately 1 hour to travel the 400yards down Wellhouse lane and on to Woodward court due to traffic volume.
