I am fully supportive of these plans, which will update the house layout to a more suitable modern day family space. It is nice to see a house re-purposed and done up rather than bog standard new houses being built everywhere. The earlier general comment/complaint made on the plans (obviously from the developer on the scheme behind this house) is a bit rich, and no thought was given by them towards the other residents on Marsh Lane in regards to these aspects previously - so to comment now is a bit odd. I hope to see this approved, and the house developed by the applicants. I would expect these plans may fall within a permitted development anyway?
