I would like to object to this development. Houses should not be built on greenbelt land. There are enough brownfield sites in the area that would be better developed rather than being left to ruin. Loss of greenbelt is irreversible and would have a negative impact on the environment. Brownfield sites usually have better utility networks and amenities. Vivly have built on enough greenbelt sites. It's time they started using brownfield sites, the public would think better of them if they did. We know greenbelt is cheaper and easier for them to build on but it's time Vivly gave something back by using brownfield now.
