I object to this planning application. I dont think we should be building on greenbelt land especially when there is loads of brownbelt land still available in the surrounding areas. People choose to live in Cumberworth due to it being rural , quiet and surrounded by greenbelt areas. Destroying this land would make it a less desirable place to live. It would damage the rural landscape and harm the woodland nearby, destroying habitats, biodiversity loss and disturbing protected species. The main road outside is extremely busy already and there will already be extra traffic with all the extra quarry wagons that will soon be using the road as well. The road is constantly flooding and being dug up by Yorkshire water as the drains can't cope currently with the amount of water. Poorly located for access to services. Nearest shop is a 20 min walk uphill on a busy main road (can't count the post office shop as its only open 9-5 and doesn't sell much). Nearest station is another 20 min walk to Denby Dale and not a great walk back from the station uphill on a busy fast main road. There is no doctors/dentist in the village and surrounding services are already over stretched.
