The land is green belt and should be left as it is, without ancient woodland being disturbed. Vivly houses are neither respectful of the local area and character nor are they affordable for most working families (which includes myself as a 35 year old father of two). As a local resident living on a street that is constantly being worked on by Yorkshire Water, I strongly feel that their objection to this planning application should be listened to. Barnsley Road is plagued by water pipe issues and the infrastructure will simply never be there to accommodate another 123 houses. Barnsley road is already busy enough, especially leading up to the cross road at Carr hill rd and further up towards the Sovereign junction. The trees are protected and any building around them should not be allowed to happen. They are a local landmark and beautiful to look at. I cannot understand why out of all the brown belt sites within a few miles radius Vivly would choose to ruin this picturesque field. Not only this but it has been vital farmland for many years.
