| Iglu is a great addition to the village. I have visited three or four times since they opened and would like to continue to visit every few months, and bring family and friends too. I live locally and having this on my doorstep means I can visit on foot rather than driving to Hebden Bridge. From interactions with other sauna users I know it attracts people from outside the area, who then go on to visit other local businesses in the village. Iglu also provides flexible local jobs and I have seen that they have actively sought local residents to work there. Every visit I've had has been really positive. It is a beautiful setting, sympathetic to the nature around it, and they have taken a lot of care in making it feel beautiful and tranquil. Healthy social activities like this should be encouraged, and provide an alternative leisure activity to the current offer in Slaithwaite, which will attract visitors and support the local economy. |     |
