I live at 51A Westgate and my property includes a long garden overlooked by the upper window at the rear . At the present time the view is obscured by my neighbours' privet hedge which has continued to grow to huge proportions in height. However, I am advised by my immediate neighbour that she will take action towards having the hedge cut significantly this year, probably down to a 6ft height as it is obscuring light and spoiling enjoyment of her garden ... and this is perfectly understandable. I am concerned that without the huge hedge height, new and additional windows will provide the capacity to look over my garden and potentially affect my privacy. I have brought this to your attention previously with regard to earlier applications for this property and the property next door . I just wanted to reiterate this point and ask the question about the height of the ground floor windows from the turf and question whether I will be overlooked by the proposed ground floor windows (above the expected 6ft hedge) when sitting out in my preferred spot which is more or less adjacent to the rear upper window . I am potentially already overlooked by upper windows of properties on the opposite side of my garden and it seems a bit of a shame to have the benefit of a garden space which one owns if one cannot enjoy the privacy of it.
