| While the site may have historically operated as a petrol station several decades ago, its most recent and long standing uses have been antique shop, garden centre, describing it simply as a 'former petrol station' risks misrepresenting the site's established character and planning context. The proposal should not be viewed as a simple reinstatement of a former use, but rather as the introduction of a significantly different and more intensive development that is not justified by current need and would negatively impact the local area. In contrast, the site's recent uses have been lower impact and more in keeping with the character of the area. | |
