The newly submitted Arboricultural Impact Assessment and Arboricultural response '12004 Response to KC Trees Arboricultural Consultations' sufficiently addresses the majority of the previous concerns raised.

The new proposals will result in less impact to retained trees and has created a better balance between new structure and surrounding trees. The additional planting scheme is also sufficient in mitigating the tree loss proposed and should be implemented post construction.

All recommendations and advise within the new AIA should be implemented and a condition set for this to be reflected in an Arboricultural Method Statement and Tree Protection Plan. There is no longer an objection from KC trees.
