As owner of the land adjacent on the boundary - It is not clear on the intended height or width of the stone wall which will be erected on the left hand side of the 'new' driveway on the plans. Assuming the front face of this wall will sit on the boundary line this will make the driveway space much smaller than the minimum width of a driveway stipulated on your website (2.5m) as less than the 2.2 m on the plan will remain once the wall is in situ. The house is already too big for the plot it stands on- there is no space to accommodate the type of vehicle used by a construction team within the vicinity without the surrounding roads becoming unsafe .Noise and dust etc will also not be contained sufficiently.
