| Lee court is open plan to the front of buildings the deeds indicate no building work to front of houses or fence erection. The finish is not compatible to existing dwellings, it would have to be imitation stone to blend in. the size is excessive and protrude too far from existing line of building, it would look like a giant shed bolted onto the front of house. Extension would have major impact on the appearance of court. there has been a large building erection in the back garden in the past months and the house has in in past been extended to the side. existing roof drainage from all the houses runs directly under the proposed extension. The structure of the tarmac in the drive does not allow for heavy wagons to transverse and damage in the past has occurred, therefore materials would have to be delivered to the far side via Stanley lane. | |
