Dear Sir/Madam

The date for objecting to the above proposed development has now passed but I wish to highlight the presence in the area of a protected species as seen and photographed for the first time on September 11 2026. I have identified this species as a palmate newt and I would suggest its habitat is in close proximity or even within the intended site.

For this reason would you please ensure that a more thorough ecological survey is carried out, one that recognises the importance of preserving the wildlife in the area and acknowledges the presence of a protected species. If the palmate newt's habitat is found on this site I would suggest that the application is rejected.
