We used to visit Scotty's bar frequently in Scissett and always had a nice experience. We live quite close to the previous location and never experienced any issues with either noise or parking. All the customers and staff were always very friendly and never had any trouble. It was a lovely place for socialising, getting to know locals and just have a relaxing time. The landlord used to organise live music and different events which I'm positive will support the community. We are looking forward to visiting the bar again in its new location and wishing the landlord success.
