Gomersal is a beautiful area prized for its open green spaces and closeness to nature. Not only will building on this field disturb the lives of every household that surrounds it, it aids in the destruction of the natural landscape Gomersal is loved for; In addition, both building and subsequent new residents will be contributing to the rise in air and noise pollution that is already increasing in our area. Cliffe Lane is a narrow road, that regularly blocks up with traffic at even the slightest of roadwork; Increasing the number of residents in such a small area, and the number of cars along with them will only cause further issues for already existing residents; The plans claim to “increase the levels on biodiversity” in the area; Answer me this: how is levelling a field, covering it in bricks and tarmac and displacing all the local wildlife, including foxes and owls “good for biodiversity”? There is so much Brown Belt land in the surrounding areas that is perfect for development and would be much more suitable for housing development. This is field is Green Belt land. By covering it, it will increase the rain run-off into the local rivers, taking building debris with it, further polluting our already contaminated rivers, and contributing to floods in winter when the rains come. In conclusion, to build on this cite would do far more harm than good for all parties concerned, both residents and the local wildlife alike, who we both care dearly about preserving.
