The main planning question should be whether the proposed activities can operate without causing unacceptable disturbance to neighbouring residents. I remember there was similar objections when planning application for an education centre was submitted, but yet what we have seen is a centre that has been serving the local community and children attending and improving themselves since before covid. In the same regard I believe the current management will make running a mosque successful whilst avoiding disturbance to the neighbours. The application includes measures intended to address noise, attendance and traffic. I believe these should be examined carefully and, where appropriate, secured through enforceable planning conditions. A well managed place of worship and education can operate successfully within a residential neighbourhood, provided its activities remain within suitable limits. I support a decision that protects local residents while recognising the genuine need for community and religious facilities. I don't own a car and therefore have suffered for years unable to attend prayers, that's the reason I support this application as it means more people like me living in Moldgreen and Dalton will have access to a mosque if this is approved.
