The land at the former Mill site is often frequented by local . Some of which are in the church, others in the surrounding area. The former allotment provided the with a feeding ground and they have also been seen using the mill ponds for drinking and feeding. I have been made aware that there may also be using this site. The ecology of the area must be fully assessed prior to any works carried out here as its a important site for local wildlife.
