The Mill Pond is incredibly important for both its heritage and its environmental benefits. It is at the heart of Newsome village and keeping it there would help to embed a sense of local pride and place. It's not only a haven for wildlife, it also provides an important resource for mental and physical well being. The invaluable benefits of wildlife have been known about for a long while but they have never been more important. Water is an integral part of a healthy ecosystem and many towns are looking at installing ponds. We already have one and to build over it would be completely wrong. The pond should be preserved, celebrated and cared for. Conservation of the natural environment is paramount.
