Empty homes premium

If a property is empty and not exempt, it will be charged the full Council Tax.

Properties that are empty long term will have an extra charge called an empty homes premium. This extra charge is on top of the normal Council Tax.

2013: The empty property premium was introduced. Councils were able to charge up to 50% extra Council Tax on properties that had been empty and unfurnished for 2 years or more.

2019: The premium amount was increased. Councils could now charge up to 100% extra Council Tax on properties empty for 2 years or more.

Further increases were allowed:

2020: Up to 200% extra for properties empty for 5 years or more.

2021: Up to 300% extra for properties empty for 10 years or more.

2024: Councils could charge the premium on homes empty for just 1 year (instead of 2 years).

Empty and unfurnished property premiums:

Table 1: Empty and unfurnished property premiums

1 year or more, but less than 5 years	100% charge plus 100% premium	200%
5 years or more, but less than 10 years	100% charge plus 200% premium	300%
10 years or more	100% charge plus 300% premium	400%

Empty and furnished homes

Starting from 1 April 2025, properties that are empty and furnished, also known as 'second homes', will be subject to the empty premium. This premium charge will be applied from the date the property is classified as empty and furnished (a second home) and will include the full standard Council Tax charge plus an additional 100% premium.

Exceptions to premiums

From 1 April 2025 there are specific exceptions where the premium charge will not apply if certain criteria are met:

West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Authority Council Tax Information 2026/27

Revenue Budget 2026/27

West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Authority (WYFRA) has agreed a £5 precept increase on the fire and rescue service council tax precept for 2026. The decision at the Full Authority meeting on February 26th will allow the Service to support essential investment, maintain frontline services and meet ongoing cost pressures.

For a Band D property, the change means an annual charge of £89.49 for fire and rescue services. This is a slight increase of £5 per year and less for those in bands A to C.

The precepts for 2026/27:

Band	Precept 2026/27 £	Annual Increase from 25/26 £
A	59.66	3.34
B	69.60	3.89
C	79.55	4.44
D	89.49	5.00
E	109.38	6.11
F	129.26	7.22
G	149.15	8.34
H	178.98	10.00

Despite the rise, West Yorkshire continues to be the fourth lowest fire and rescue precept per head of population in England.

Cllr Darren O'Donovan, Chair of the WYFRA says "We remain committed to delivering the best possible fire and rescue service for the people of West Yorkshire while managing our finances carefully. Rising costs and the need to invest in new buildings, technology and equipment mean that this increase is necessary to protect the service the public relies on.

"We do not take any rise lightly. This decision ensures that we can continue to make essential improvements across our estate and infrastructure and continue to provide an excellent service for the people of West Yorkshire."

Chief Fire Officer John Roberts said "Like many organisations, we are managing the impact of higher costs, but our commitment to providing excellent value for money remains unchanged.

"We are grateful for the continued support of the public and will keep working hard to deliver a high-quality, efficient and forward-looking fire and rescue service."

What will the Fire and Rescue Service Cost?

As part of my role as Mayor of West Yorkshire, I am responsible for setting our police budget.

This relates to the 'police precept' - which is the part of your council tax bill that funds policing in our region.

West Yorkshire currently has the fourth-lowest Police Band D precept level in England and Wales, yet operational policing continues to face increasing pressures.

People have told us that they value the work of West Yorkshire Police and want to see more visible policing in our communities.

Following an extensive consultation with the public, the majority of people (57%) supported an increase to the police precept.

Against this backdrop, the decision has been made to increase the police section of council tax to ensure vital investment for the Force.

This will result in a very small increase. Around 80% of the region's taxpayers live in households that are bands A, B, and C, which will see an increase of between 19 pence and 26 pence per week.

This increase to the police precept will significantly reduce West Yorkshire Police's funding gap and move us toward a more sustainable financial position.

This will also enable the ongoing delivery of the Mayor's Police and Crime Plan for 2024-28, which sets out joint ambitions and priorities for policing and community safety.

I appreciate the public's support for strengthening frontline policing, as it helps us continue working together towards a safer and fairer West Yorkshire.

I've also been working closely with the police, partner agencies, and my Deputy Mayor for Policing and Crime, Alison Lowe OBE, over the last year to make our region a safer and better place. Over the past year we have:

- Launched our second Police and Crime Plan, building on West Yorkshire's innovative work to improve the safety of women and girls, and to tackle gangs, drugs, and knife crime.
- Continued the vital work of our Women's Safety Unit, which drives change through partnership, raises awareness, and focuses on preventing violence against women and girls.
- Supported more than 8,000 young people under 24 and almost 500 adults through the West Yorkshire Violence Reduction Partnership since April 2025, helping to address knife crime and serious violence across the region.
- Awarded over £4.4 million through the Mayor's Safer Communities Fund since 2021, directing money taken from criminals to 460 local projects dedicated to making West Yorkshire safer.
- Launched our new People's Fund, part of our commitment to co-producing a serious violence strategy. Up to £100,000 will be made available in each district, with local groups able to bid for up to £10,000. Residents will then decide which projects receive funding.
- Continued to work towards achieving West Yorkshire Vision Zero, reducing all road death and serious injury in the county to zero by 2040. Over the last year the number of those killed and seriously injured has fallen with a host of initiatives covering education and enforcement as well as road design and support for victims.
